

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides compositions and methods for affecting plant growth. In addition the present invention provides a medium for the production of an embryogenic callus from a plant sample and a medium for the regeneration of a plant sample. The present invention also contemplates kits for the culture plant samples and the regeneration of plant samples.